What's David Beckham got in common with you in this role?

They both moved to Spain and paid less tax doing it.

Move to Barcelona.

Pay a flat 24% tax. Yes, the Beckham rule. Google it.

Live somewhere around 30% cheaper than the UK.

And run the creative heartbeat of an international agency.

Not bad, right?

This isn't a "head of pretty pictures" job.

This is Head of Department / Creative Director / Studio Lead for a vibrant, scaling events agency in Barcelona.

You'll report directly to the CEO.

You'll lead a team of 8-10 creatives plus a trusted freelance network.

And you'll sit at the centre of brand activations, brand experiences and spatial storytelling across Europe.

You'll own:

- Pitches and the thinking before it hits the client

- Creative standards and output across the studio
- Process, tools, workflow and resource planning
- Budgets, scope and delivery discipline
- Coaching and developing a genuinely talented team

They don't want a dictator.

They don't want chaos.

They want authority with warmth.

Someone experienced.

Someone who understands experiential and spatial environments.

Someone who knows big ideas only matter if they can actually be delivered.

You'll work hand-in-hand with Sales and Project Management.

You'll lead from the front in pitches.

You'll align commercial reality with creative ambition.

And you'll build a freelance ecosystem that allows the studio to scale without stress.

Yes, it's a relocation role.

Visa covered.

Accommodation supported.

Relocation handled.

You focus on leading. They handle the logistics.

I don't need to sell you Barcelona. Just look up at the sky.

Who knows where it will take you.

Don't worry if your CV isn't up to date, we can deal with that later.

Oh, I also run a £1k recommend a friend scheme, so please feel free to share with your connections.
